DESIGNER: Tapinassi & Manzoni

Architects Manzoni and Tapinassi of Studio Memo redesign typical '50s proportions in the Svevo total living system. The collection is characterised by rounded, enveloping shapes and the sophisticated mix of materials visible in the structure of the solid wood feet, which is embellished with very fine metal details. Meanwhile, glass is used for tables and chests of drawers to enhance horizontal surfaces. The Svevo collection perfectly expresses Natuzzi Italia's sophisticated "total harmony" concept: objects are combined and merge in a contagious harmony that pervades the entire house.

PRODUCT DETAILS

Peculiarity and a special feature of the collection is the structure of the feet in solid wood in different colours which gives a visual grandeur and solidity to the structure. Structure is always matt lacquered and available in two colours. Top of the dresser and nightstand is satin glass and lacquered to match the structure. The project highlights a judicious mix of materials that recalls the fifties that along with its rounded and enveloping shapes. The Svevo system can easily be extended to the rest of the house to create a "total look" inspired vintage objects.
